Canadian Foodgrains Bank is a Christian response to help famine throughout the world. The local "Char-Lan Foodgrains Bank" has had growing projects for more than 20 years. After government matching, we have raised more than two million dollars. Farmers donate their time and equipment to grow and harvest crops of corn or soybeans. The crop is then sold and the proceeds are used in projects to help end hunger in lesser privileged countries. You can help by donating. Your donations will be used to buy seed, fertilizer and other crop inputs. Representatives will be on hand to accept your donations at St-Joseph Church on Saturday, April 28 and Sunday, April 29. If you want to donate, please enter your name and address on an envelope with donation and a receipt will be issued to you. (please make cheque payable to "Char-Lan Foodgrains Bank"). Thank you in advance for your generosity. For more info please call Peter Van Sleuwen at 613-330-2400.
